WOMEN'S HEALTHCARE

Personalized care for women of all ages and at all stages of life.

Board-certified in Obstetrics and Gynecology and Gynecologic Oncology, Mount Sinai physicians are nationally recognized for their advanced training, and diagnosis and treatment capabilities in minimally invasive and robotic surgery. What makes gynecologic oncologists so unique is that they are skilled radical as well as minimally invasive surgeons and are all practiced in the delivery and principles of chemotherapy and radiation. As part of their training, our gynecologic oncologists have all spent considerable time in the laboratory which results in a seamless and integrative approach to disease management and is one reason why women come to Mount Sinai from all over the world.

All of our therapeutic and surgical procedures are offered in collaboration with the foremost experts in early detection, diagnostic and interventional radiology, genetics, radiation therapy, palliative care, behavioral medicine, nutrition, and physical therapy.

Our gynecologic oncologists practice in collaboration with the Tisch Cancer Institute to evaluate and manage surgical patients, provide consultations, and administer chemotherapy in a unified and intimate setting designed to ensure patient privacy and comfort. Our division also utilizes nurses specifically trained in cancer treatment services and on-site oncology pharmacists.

Our specially trained physicians work hand-in-hand with each woman to develop a plan of care tailored to her personal needs and medical history. Services include clinical care, monitoring and state-of-the-art diagnostic testing and more. Smooth teamwork and good communication with other specialists ensure that our patients receive the best possible care.

Our Gynecologist Oncologists have expertise in:

- Diagnosis and treatment for gynecologic malignancies and complex benign gynecologic conditions.
- Ovarian cytoreduction and debulking for the treatment of ovarian cancer
- Minimally-invasive and traditional surgical procedures, including robotic-assisted surgery - 60% of our surgeries are performed utilizing a minimally invasive approach.
- Urologic and bowel surgery
- Lymphadenectomy
- Chemotherapy port implantation
- Laser and laparoscopic surgeries for the treatment of uterine and cervical cancers
- Genetic testing and counseling for women at increased risk for ovarian cancer
- Increased surveillance and treatment for women with BRCA 1 and 2 genetic mutations

We are a member of the Gynecologic Oncology Group (GOG) which offers our patients exposure to national protocols. Mount Sinai has been a pioneer in investigating optimal chemotherapeutic regimens for patients with gynecologic cancers leading to significant improvements in outcomes. We are also home to the National Ovarian Cancer Early Detection Program, an international clinical and scientific effort to identify new screening methods for the early detection of ovarian cancer. Our gynecologic oncologists, board-certified geneticists, genetic counselors, pathologists and basic scientists work as part of a comprehensive, multi-disciplinary team that provides personalized risk assessment, and access to support, advocacy and lay resources for women at risk.

Support Services

Mount Sinai's Woman to Woman program is a unique network of trained volunteer survivors of gynecologic cancer who provide hope, one-on-one support, education and advocacy for women in treatment for gynecologic cancer at Mount Sinai, their partners, families and caregivers. It is the only support program of its kind exclusively for women with gynecologic cancer. The volunteers, who were all treated at Mount Sinai, provide a unique perspective on survivorship that can only come from someone who has been there before.
